OBITUARY

Jessie May Kiser
After the short illness of a week, Mrs. Jessie May Kiser passed away at her home, south east of Arrowwood, on Saturday afternoon, April 21st.

Mrs. Kiser was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ledgway, of Plattsmouth, Nebraska. In 1920 she and Mr. C. H. Baker were married and coming to Canada they made their home in this district. Ten years ago her mother passed away. Mr. Baker passed away on September 12th, 1924 and since that time she has been living on her farm.

On July 9th, 1932 she and Mr. Carl Kiser were married in Calgary.

For some time she has been suffering to high blood pressure, but a week ago a severe heart attack developed. She realized the end was near and having made provision for the children she passed peacefully away, in her forty-second year.

The late Mr. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Baker, are living at Rose Hill, Kansas. Mrs. Kiser is survived by her three children, Howard 13 years, Norman 11 years and Marion 9 years, her husband Carl Kiser and her father. There are also five sisters and two brothers. Clarence, Miss Helen, Mrs. Mabel Snyder, Mrs. Edith Hanes and Mrs. Florence Kreeger, all of Plattsmouth, Nebraska. Mrs. Ida Hesse of Buena Park, California and John of Lincoln, Nebraska.

The only friends from the South able to attend were Mrs. Kreeger and Mr. and Mrs. John Ledgway.

The funeral service was held in the Church of the Brethren, Arrowwood, at 3 p.m., Tuesday, April 24th. Mr. George Evans, Gleichen, was the funeral director and the church and burial service was conducted by Rev. V. M. Gilbert, of the United Church, assisted by Rev. J. Wiesend, of the Church of the Brethren, Arrowwood. Mrs. A. Phillips sang "Some Day 'Till All Be Over." The large number in attendance and the beautiful floral display told of the esteem in which all held Mrs. Kiser.

The pall bearers were, Messrs. Glen House, F. H. House, R. E. Hill, E. Lewendon, R. R. McBride, and R. N. Moir. At Easter 1933 she joined the United Church. A few weeks earlier she had the children baptized. She served as school trustee in her district for a number of years. We all remember her as the mother who so faithfully sought to supply the physical, mental and spiritual needs of her children. But death took her in the very prime of life and broke the happy home she and Mr. Kiser had lately established.

U.F.W.A. Met at the Home of Mrs. R. Shatto

An interesting meeting was held at Mrs. Rosewood Shatto's on April 4th with eight members and five visitors present. Mrs. DeWitt assisted the hostess. Meeting opened by singing "Work for the Night is Coming." The creed was then repeated. The roll was answered by giving the name of favorite poet or author. A bulletin in read by Mrs. DeWitt of Beautification and horticulture was enjoyed. Mrs. Moersah gave an interesting health report which brought forward some discussion. A general discussion of current events followed. Mrs. McBride gave a very instructive peace report. A sale of plants, roots and seeds netted the Sunshine Fund two dollars. Mrs. Williams gave a reading from L. M. Montgomery's book "Anne's House of Dreams" and Mrs. Brown gave a very interesting article on Mazo de la Roche. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses.

Wedding Bells

A rather quiet but none the less very pretty wedding took place in St. Andrew's Church Vulcan, on Wednesday, April 18th, when Frances O'Malley of Arrowwood became the bride of Wilfred Callaghan of Alston. The bride's attendant was Miss Eva Olheiser of Champion, whilst the groom's brother, Mr. John Callahan, acted as best man.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Cunningham who afterwards celebrated the special nuptial mass which is permitted on such occasions and imparted the nuptial blessing to the bride. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. G.M. Whitcher, rendered some appropriate hymns and Miss Kathleen Stack sang the "O Salutaris" as an offertory piece. The bride and groom will in future reside on the farm of Mr. B. Lommatzsch, near Vulcan.—Vulcan Advocate.

Mrs. L. E. Parnell entertained at Bridge last Tuesday, when a very pleasant afternoon was spent. Mrs. E. E. Bell was the winner of first prize and Mrs. E. Lewendon second. The Arrowwood Guides enjoyed their first hike of the season last Saturday, nineteen girls passed their observation tests and after studying the pyramid type of bonfire, lunch was eaten and the tired but happy girls returned to town in time for the baseball game.

Guessing Contest Closes Saturday

The Congoleum Gold Seal Rug Guessing Contest, which is being conducted at the L. H. Phillips Hardware this week, closes at 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, April 28th, and the winning number will be announced in the store window at 4 o'clock that afternoon.

The guess nearest to the actual number hidden under the Gold Seal on the Congoleum Gold Seal Rug on display, will be awarded the rug free. It costs nothing to take a guess and the contest is open to anyone excepting the employees of the store and their families. Estimates are entitled to one guess. Remember it costs you nothing to try and you may win a genuine Congoleum Gold Seal Rug. The number hidden is between 1 and 5,000.

Every effort has been made to ensure the utmost simplicity and fairness in this contest. Everyone has the same chance of winning.

Local and Personal

A drama in four acts, "The Attorney for the Defense," will be presented in the Community Hall at 8 p.m. on Wed., May 2nd, at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the Gleichen United Church. Gleichen Symphony Orchestra in attendance. Local musical numbers between acts.

For the past five years Mr. Hall, who is to conduct the United Church, has been pastor on the Parkland-Stavely field and this year is supplying Stanley Park, Calgary. One from Claresholm tells us that whenever it was known that he was to be the speaker there the church was packed.

Mr. Russel Torichow has taken over the truck and business which he sold to Mr. J. S. Thurston last Summer. Some three months ago Mr. Thurston entered the hospital for treatment to his arm and since that time has been unable to work, so he decided to dispose of the truck. Russel will continue to use the name Highway Transport.

It is ages since the people of Arrowwood have had the privilege of attending a good snappy Vaudeville. However they won't have to wait long now, because on Saturday night, under the auspices of the Arrowwood Baseball Club, The Olive West Players in "The Sap" will be presented in The Phillips Hall. This is the snappest, poppiest show of the season, with Eddie "Pop" Bell, Canada's funniest comedian. This is a guaranteed attraction or money refunded.

OCCASIONAL WIFE

BY EDNA ROSE WEBSTER
Author of "Jewels," "Lapicid
Girl," etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the party, Peter, Camilla, and Sylvia go to the beach by themselves and find a secret place where they can be alone. The next morning and Avis and another boy are standing near her. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. However, on Wednesdays, an advertising agency where Camilla has submitted some of her work, send for a work to start her salary of $500 a week and offer her the prospect of being a model. She tells Peter of her good fortune in securing money and Peter is also informed that Camilla has obtained work and is going to leave the Hoyt household. Camilla tells Peter that she is going to have lunch there. He accepts reluctantly, but in fairness, he goes with his visit. Camilla urges Peter to accept some of her earnings to help him along, but Peter refuses and they quarrel.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XXXIX.

Peter dismissed Avis' suggestion that she "invest money in his future," with "I couldn't do that. It's really sporting of you to offer to help me, but I wouldn't be fair to borrow money from you just because you are a good friend."

"You would consider a loan from a stranger, if he would take the risk?" "I might. I know that I couldn't do it back sometime, whether I should or it might or not. I certainly don't expect to be broke for always."

"Then let me back you up for a while. I'd love to be interested in your progress and see you win out." She did not plead or attempt to influence him with a personal appeal. Only her words were persuasive.

After a short silence, he asked abruptly, "Why are you interested in me?"

Her head was thrown back against a cushion and she looked at him from beneath lowered eyelids. Her lips curved slightly with amusement. "Because I like you," Avis admitted. "And, as I said, because I believe in your ability, and have money to invest in a good thing when I see it. Need any more reasons?"

"Is that all of them?" soberly. "All I can think of at this moment." She laughed and tossed a cushion at his head. "You're a funny old thing. Anyway, it's all settled. How much?" She got up and went to her desk, took out a pen and check book.

"Oh, don't give it to me, now. I want it done up regular, with legal papers, witnesses and all the rest. You haven't named the interest, even. How do I know you won't charge more than the legal rate?" He attempted to jest, but his confused thoughts were like weights in his brain.

"Is six per cent. fair enough?" "Okay. Compounded every three months, payable—when?"

"When you pay the interest, it makes no difference to me how long it takes. It is to be paid to me in that more invested safely." Her words were brisk, businesslike. "Besides, as I told you the other day, I want you to do some work for me when you get time. I really am serious about that, and I'm sure that mother can use some new garden beds, also."

Hans Christian Andersen

Son Of Poor Shoemaker Became A Writer With World-Wide Fame

Denmark recently celebrated the birthday of a poor shoemaker's son who lived to become one of the nation's most famous literary figures. He was Hans Christian Andersen, whose fairy tales are known among children and adults in almost all civilized countries.

Andersen, backward and considered stupid in his youth, was born at Odenas in Funen province, April 2, 1805. His parents had to little money the entire family lived in one room.

Andersen always scored his biggest success with fantasy, but had ambitions to write romance and did, in fact, achieve some success as a novelist and a poet.

His fairy tales earned him fame all over Europe. He was awarded a great welcome when he went to England in 1847. When he left Charles Dickens bade him farewell at Ramsgate pier.

In 1872 Andersen fell out of bed and was severely hurt. He was never well from that time on, and in 1875 he died at his home near Copenhagen.

Bought in Chippington, England, three years ago, a pigeon has just returned to its old cot.

Paper Made From House Flies

House Flies Now Used For Manufacture Of Super-Fine Paper

That pest, the common house fly, has been turned to good use—the manufacture of paper.

The Paper Foundation, planning its exhibit for the 1934 world's fair at Chicago, announced it would display the finished product, a paper which claims the wings and legs of flies as one of its principal ingredients.

William J. Miskin, president of the foundation, said it takes about 10,000 flies for the manufacture of every pound of new paper.

"We have found," he said, "that the wings and legs of flies, if mixed with the pulp of super-fine paper, give the finished product a peculiar and handsome watermark pattern that it is impossible to duplicate in any other way."

"We will probably have to look to Europe for our flies, for health authorities and others have refused them to be competitively free in the United States," Miskin added. "We are now negotiating with one man in Europe, whose name I cannot reveal, who he is willing to supply house flies to us in carload lots."

His gratitude was pathetically genuine when he thanked her. "This is awfully decent of you, Avis. I'll never forget it, either."

"Not even when you have become famous?" she asked playfully. "Especially then," he promised. "This is going to make a lot of difference in my work."

"Of course it will. That is why I wanted you to have it. Forget your troubles now, and finish the new figure on time for the exhibit. Then, so shall celebrate."

"How?"

"With a big party right here!" She smiled and suggested a more private celebration, but dared not. She had been too successful thus far in her plans to grow reckless now.

She closed the door after him and leaned against it, her head thrown back, dreamily. With Peter in Paris—the Louvre, the Place de la Concorde, the Jardin des Tuileries, the

Membership Growing

Membership in the Manitoba boys and girls poultry club in 1934 will be in advance of the 200 recorded in 1933, in the opinion of J. C. Scholes, who is in charge of the provincial poultry service. He estimates that 15,000 day-old chicks will go out to 300 boys and girls this year.

Individual microphones for each person sharing in a business conference have been invented to record his words on a steel wire.

Little Helps For This Week

"He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake." Psalm 23:2-3

He leads me where the waters are still and sweet.

And hereafter He will gently guide.

My wandering heart and will.

Out of obedience and devotion arises an habitual faith which makes Him, though unseen, a part of all our life. He will guide us in a sure path, though it be a rough one, though shadows hang upon it, yet He will be with us. He will bring us home at last.

Through much trial it may be, in weariness and much fear and fainting of heart, in much sadness and loneliness, in grief that the light never comes, and under burdens the nearest never suspect. Yet He will suffice for all. By His eye and His voice He will guide us if we be docile and gentle, by His staff and His rod, if we wander or are wilful, any way, and by all means, He will bring us to His rest.—H. M. Manning.

Requires No Aerodrome

Toronto Inventor Describes Bellaphane To Reporters At Plymouth

John Howard, of Toronto, arrived at Plymouth, England, and described to reporters the invention with which he said Dr. H. P. Hoiler, of Maryland, hope to revolutionize aviation.

"The bellaphane," he declared, "is a machine which can land directly and smoothly on land or sea. There is no need for an aerodrome, nor for a mooring mast. It combines the principles of the dirigible with those of the autogyro."

The new invention would make it possible, Howard added, to go from England to Australia without a single stop or the possibility of a single accident.

The accident risk would be eliminated in the fact the bellaphane would have an autogyro-like propeller. If the helium bag should burst folding wings would prevent the structure from falling to earth.

Inverted Figures On Coins

Enhanced Value Of Few Nova Scotia 1837 Halfpennies

Everybody around Halifax is closely scanning all old coins. Recently a letter was received at the office of the Halifax board of trade requesting information about the value of a Nova Scotia halfpenny of 1837.

The letter was referred to E. J. Vickery and he said that if the coin was actually dated 1837 it would be worth up to $10.00. The reason for this high value for a mere half-penny is the fact that when the coppers were first struck in 1837, the new ones were printed with the numbers 8 and 3 inverted. This mistake was discovered and corrected, but not before a number of coins had been run off and circulated.

Salvaging Sunkens Metal

Equipped with diving apparatus which, it is claimed, will allow salvage work to be carried on at a depth of 1,000 feet below the surface of the sea, the Italian steamer Eriarso has gone to Tunis, North Africa, to undertake the recovery of more than $3,000,000 worth of wrecks from metal from a sunken British steamer. The treasure was lost during the war when the Cienariety sank in 700 feet of water.

Different Kind Of Coppers

Having need of some small change, the mistress of the house stepped to the top of the back stairs. "Bea, she said to the maid below, 'have you any coppers down there?'"

"Yes—two," faltered Bea. "But they're my cousin's pennies m'm."

Confucianism Revived

Although the Nanjing government frowns upon all forms of superstition and upon religious worship and has closed or confiscated hundreds of temples, the Canton region is officially sponsoring a revival of Confucianism and is, in effect, making it a state religion.

Baseball Notes

Yulcan H. S. 6 - Arrowwood H.S. 9

The first exhibition of baseball was given on the local diamond Saturday evening last, when the High School team from Yulcan played at Arrowwood. The weather was ideal and with the diamond in fairly good playing condition, both teams displayed a brand of baseball that is worthy of consideration.

The Yulcan boys were a snappy group of players and although they came out on the short end of the score they were far from being outclassed. The Arrowwood boys took advantage of every break and scored several unearned runs, however timely hits also aided them on to their victory. Joe Dumka pitching to John Irwin, formed the battery for Arrowwood and although it was the initial appearance for both players, they performed their work in an extremely creditable manner. Joe's fast ball and variety of curves enabled him to strike out many of the opponents with ease. Floyd Gray made two sensational catches in left field, Harper's home run for Yulcan in the seventh inning and John Irwin's hit scoring three runs in the seventh, were features of the game.

Twelve Reasons Why Your Boy Should Become a Scout

1. Scouting fills a boy's spare time with healthy occupations in healthy company.
2. Scouting gives a boy character, which is essential to any career.
3. Scouting is not a military movement. We are out to make good individual citizens, not a crowd of imitation soldiers.
4. Scouting gives a boy opportunities for service for God and his neighbor. This is the basis of religion.
5. Scouting makes a boy happy. His hobbies are useful at home as well as interesting to himself.
6. Scouting gives a boy a sense of honor and loyalty. He will not let you down or tell you a lie.
7. Scouting teaches a boy self reliance, so that he can fend for himself and help other people.
8. Scouting gives a boy health through open-air exercise and self care, he gains a sound mind in a healthy body.
9. Scouting finds out a boy's natural gifts and so helps find "square pegs" in the choice of career.

Barley Varieties

O. A. C. No. 21 has been accepted as the standard by which other varieties of barley have been measured for a number of years. It is a variety that produces good yields, has straw of fair strength, is medium in maturity, and is considered one of the best for malting purposes in Canada.

A variety of sufficient merit to replace O. A. C. No. 21 must be exceptional in one or more characteristics. Trebi is a variety that has slightly shorter straw of fair strength, matures in about the same number of days, produces long and usually plump kernels; gives yields that usually exceed O. A. C. No. 21 by at least ten per cent, and bids fair to replace O. A. C. No. 21 as a variety to grow for feeding purposes.

Repeated experiments conducted at the Dominion experimental station, Lacombe, Alta., have shown that Trebi is a consistently heavy yielding variety. It repeatedly yields all other sorts and farmers of the district who grow this sort for feed find that it yields surprisingly well with them. Since it is reasonably satisfactory from all standpoints, and is superior to other varieties in yield, there seems no reason why it should not replace other sorts as a feed barley.

The idea has been prevalent the threshed grain of Trebi is inferior to other sorts for feed. Feeding experiments have shown that while hogs prefer O. A. C. No. 21 to Trebi when given free access to both, hogs will make just as many pounds of pork from one hundred lbs. of Trebi barley as they will from a like amount of the other.

Trebi barley is not favored by the Canadian malting trade. Since, however, approximately 90 per cent of the barley grown in Canada is for feed for live stock and since Trebi, not only meets every requirement of a good feed barley, but also out-yields other sorts, in this area, it is recommended here as the variety of feed barley to grow.

We are again at the time of the year when we can do our bit by burning the old rubbish and disposing of all refuse that has accumulated during the winter. A goodly number have already done this and the rest of us should do our part, so that this necessary cleanup will be completed by the end of the month.

The rush season is upon us and if you are short of power come in and see what we have in a second hand tractor — it may be just that additional power that you need.

Our new refined tractor distillate is giving satisfaction. Why not try a drum of it and compare it with the fuel you are using.

The users of Autolene Oil may pay a few cents more per gallon than they would for some other oil, but we are confident that the difference is more than made up in repair costs. We carry it in all weights from SAE 10 to 60.

We also have a cheaper oil than the Autolene's, so if you are looking for a cheaper oil, we can supply you.

Pressure Gun Grease, Cup Grease and Transmission Grease in any quantity you wish.

Departing Guest: You have a very pretty place here, Frank, but it looks a little bare yet.

Bored Host: Oh, it's only because the trees are a little young. I hope they'll have grown to a good size before you come again.
